SCHOOL REVENUE IS APPORTIONED

Deputy Auditor Bales Distributes
Rush County's Share of Fund
Among the Townships

RUSHVILLE LEADS THEM ALL

Per Capita Rate is $2.13 and There
Are 1,290 of School Age in the City.

Distribution of the common school revenue and the congressional interest was made today by Deputy Auditor Bales to the various township trustees. A total of $10,002.69 was sent to the various townships. Of this amount $9,292.14 was from the common school revenue fund.

The money has been apportioned back to the counties by the state and Rush county as usual loses in the transaction. A total of $16,801.98 was paid the state from the school fund in the December settlement and Rush county got back only $9,292.14 a loss of $7,509.84. This is always the case with Rush county under the present law.

In making the apportionment to the various township trustees the amount is $2.13 per capita and it necessarily results that the township with a larger number of children receives a greater amount of money. The city of Rushville naturally receives a greater sum of money than any of the township trustees. In Rushville City there are 1,290 school children and the treasurer of the school board today received a warrant of $2,749.51 in school revenue and congressional interest.

The settlement of the county with the township trustees shows that are a total of 4,693 school children in the county. The settlement is made twice a year and this is based on the December settlement of the county with the state.

The distribution of the funds among the various townships was as follows:

	No. of Congress Children	Interest	Common School Revenue	Total
Anderson	370	$97.71	$690.92	$788.63
Center	242	33.34	482.46	515.50

FOR ROBBING POSTOFFICE

Two Men, Who Admit They Are
Criminals, Given 4 Years Each

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 25.—Admitting themselves to be hardened criminals but pleading for leniency for their young companions Edward Conway, age 61, and James Haeckon succeeded in their plea but received four-years sentences in federal prison today at the hands of Federal Judge Anderson. The two former convicts obtained a two-year sentence for Ed Myers who they said had never been in bad before.

These 3 men were the principals in a thrilling chase across the northern part of the state through Garrett and Auburn after they had robbed the postoffice at Avilla of $344.53. Blood hounds were used.

James E. Watson's class of St. Paul's M. E. Sunday school will meet Tuesday evening at seven-thirty o'clock with Mrs. Will M. Sparks.

DOCTOR STRUCK BY CAR

J. H. Hohe of Connersville Dies
Four Hours After Mishap

(By United Press.)

Connersville, Ind., Jan. 25.—Dr. J. H. Hohe, age sixty-one years, a well known physician here, was hit by an Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company's car at a stop three miles west of here last night and died four hours later. Dr. Hohe was conscious after being struck and said that in attempting to flag the car he had stood too close to the track. The blinding snow storm last night was thought to have confused him and made it impossible to see just how close the car was to him.

ALMANAC PRINTED BEFORE REVOLUTION

Mrs. William J. Finney Has Old
Book Issued in Pennsylvania
For the Year 1769.

IS STILL IN GOOD SHAPE

Mrs. William J. Finney, 423 East Second street, has an old pocket almanac which dates back to a period before the revolutionary in this country. It has been handed down from generation to generation in her family and is still very well preserved although votes which were made in the book in pen and lead pencil are hardly legible now.

The little book was known as the Pennsylvania pocket almanac for the year 1769, which makes it one hundred and forty-six years old. "Being the first after Bissextile or leap year," says the almanac on the title page. "Calculated for the use of the province of Pennsylvania and the neighboring provinces."

The little almanac had a prediction for every day of the year and one side of each page was left blank to be used for making memorandums.

MAY BE EXTENDED ON TO MUNCIE NOW

Local Division of L. E. & W. is Not Working Satisfactorily Under
New Schedule.

TERMINAL MAY BE CHANGED

Another change in the train service between this city and Newcastle is likely to be made soon, according to reliable information. The present service is not turning out to expectations, especially on the return trip from Newcastle to this city. Superintendent O'Brien and the trainmaster of the road were here yesterday in consultation with the local agent, W. A. Woollen.

The plan under consideration now is to extend the local division to Muncie and have this city the terminal instead of Newcastle. The crew of the train now does all the switching for the Newcastle factories and because this is so heavy the train is always late in getting started back to this city. The agent here has been kept on duty as late as midnight and the officials say something will have to be done. In case the local division is extended to Muncie and through service is established another crew would be secured to take care of the switching in Newcastle. The crew states that this is a day's work without making the run to Rushville for the night.

ENTERING CLASS TWICE AS LARGE

Twenty-Eight Pupils Begin High
School Work Today When Second Semester Opens Here.

NEW SUBJECTS ARE OFFERED

Much Stress is Being Laid on Grammar and Composition Work
This Year in High School.

A class numbering twenty-eight, which is twice as large as any former class, entered the high school for the first time today. The mid-winter classes in former years have been about one-half as large as this and with entrance of this number the high school is very crowded.

Several new subjects are offered in the high school this term. The Freshmen class will be given a different course in study, varying somewhat from the past. The course will consist of commercial arithmetic, political and industrial geography, grammar and oral composition, and in connection with the literary work, a book entitled, "Types of Short Story," will be studied.

Stress is being placed on grammar and composition work this term in high school more than ever before and Prof. Wilson has organized an advanced class in grammar. This course is especially designed for those contemplating teaching following their graduation from high school and is an advanced study in English work.

Among the new classes formed is one in bookkeeping. Miss Leta Denny is teaching this work, starting this term. A class in practical bookkeeping was formed last year and proved very successful and Miss Denny decided to try it again this term. The work is to be practical and will be a great aid to any student intending to take up this line of work.

Other new classes consist of a public speaking department, under the direction of Earl Marlatt, and an advanced course in algebra. The algebra course is especially designed for those expecting to enter college next fall, as practically every college in the state has college algebra on the list of subjects the students are required to take. It has been noted that students entering college generally have a hard time with college algebra and this course is offered in the hope of overcoming the difficulties.

In the 8A grade a course entitled "Preparing for Citizenship," will be taught in connection with the history class. In both the 8A and 8B grades "The Principles of Cooking" will be taught along with the regular domestic science course.

The Senior class this year will probably be smaller than in the past two or three years and from present indications, according to Superintendent Scholl, the class will number not to exceed twenty-four members.

All the schools of the city today began the second semester of the school year. Examinations were held last week and pupils received their report cards last Friday afternoon.

400 FRENCHMEN KILLED.

(By United Press.)

Berlin, Jan. 25.—French efforts to advance toward the Rhine in lower Alsace have again been repulsed, it was officially announced today. German artillery halted a French infantry charge and bodies of 400 Frenchmen were found on the battlefield.

A marriage license was issued Saturday afternoon to Anthony Margison and Amanda Gordon.

LIQUOR TOPIC OF TWO SERMONS

Pastors of St. Paul's M. E. and
First Baptist Churches Discussing Proposed Election.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC ARRAIGNED

The Rev. A. D. Batchelor Says it
Has Little Respect For Law
Although it is Curbed.

The ministers of two churches, the Rev. S. G. Huntington of the First Baptist church, and Rev. A. D. Batchelor, of St. Paul's M. E. church, discussed the temperance question in their pulpits last evening, anticipating the probable calling of an local option election here in view of the fact that petitions for signatures to call an election are being circulated. Excerpts from these two sermons as well as from that given by Dr. D. Ira Lambert of the First Presbyterian church follows:

St. Paul's M. E.

Last night at the St. Paul's Methodist church the Rev. A. D. Batchelor preached a sermon on the local temperance issue. He took the position that any town was better without saloons. He did not mince words when he said that the saloon was a disturber of the public peace, a source of corruption and an inveterate breaker of the law. The text was, Esther 1:8. "And the drinking was according to law."

He said: "This is a reference to a feast given by Ahasuerus. The drinking was curbed by law to prevent Bacchanalian excess. The statement betrays the characteristic element of intoxicants. It is of such a character that it must be restrained by law. Now the manufacture and the sale of intoxicants have become a business. But it is a traffic that is circumscribed by more laws than all other business together. The reason is because it is inherently evil and must be curbed. The best way to curb it is to prohibit it. Some say prohibition is a failure. The fact is, regulation is a ghastly failure. Is anyone prepared to say that the drinking is according to the law where saloons are licensed? There is more lawlessness with saloons than without them. Indianapolis has many licensed saloons. Is the drinking there according to the law? We have the statement of the daily press for it that the saloons there do not observe the law. In each issue of the capital city press instances of law violation are recounted. Regulation does not seem to succeed.

"Although the traffic is curbed and restrained by law it has little respect for the law. It has always considered itself an exception to the law. Thus it makes a constant problem for officials and for the courts. If its drinking was always according to law, sentiment against it could not be so strong. But it will never obey the law. It is inherently evil. It is conducted by men who are deficient in conscience. It is the prime cause of many other forms of lawlessness. It is always allied with the worst forms of evil which it encourages. An ex-saloon keeper told me the other day that it was the worst business in which anyone could engage. And yet, he was in favor of the return of the saloons.

"Others are in favor of the return of the saloons. Some of these are putting their names on a petition for an election in the hope that the city will vote 'wet.' Why do they favor the licensed saloon? First, they tell us that more liquor is drunk without the saloons. Is it so? If this is true why do the liquor men favor the return of the saloons? This statement comes from the

Senator Root Says Proper Consideration is Not Given Bill.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 25.—Sen. Root this afternoon assailed the majority members for attempting, he said, to prevent proper consideration of the ship purchase bill now before the senate.

"It does not seem to me," he said, "that this bill which will put the government into the foreign shipping business is receiving the kind of consideration a measure of its kind merits. It not only proposes that this government expend a large sum at a time when an extra tax has been imposed to make up our revenue deficit but embarks the United States on a new governmental policy."

JUMPS TRACK AND DELAYS TRAFFIC

L. E. & W. Engine Righted Sunday
Morning Just as Wrecking
Crew Whistled For Rushville.

BROKEN RAIL RESPONSIBLE

While running fast Saturday night to reach Rushville in time to keep within the scope of the sixteen-hour law, the engine of the L. E. & W. mixed train, which runs between here and Newcastle, jumped the track at the Fifth street crossing at a point near where the L. E. & W. and Big Four tracks join and delayed traffic on the Big Four until Sunday morning about 7 o'clock. Three freight trains on the Big Four were held up here until the engine was pulled back on the track.

Just as soon as the accident happened, a wrecking crew was ordered here from Muncie. When the wreck train was whistling for Rushville, a Big Four freight engine pulled the L. E. & W. engine up on the track after the night had been spent attempting to get the engine on the rails. A broken rail is held responsible for the mishap.

Rather than have the trip of the wreck train here seem like a waste of energy, the crew was set to work cleaning off the L. E. & W. crossings here in the city.

CRIMINAL CASES ARE CARRIED OVER

Charges Against Several Men Will
Not be Heard Until Next Term
of Court.

IT BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

Judge Sparks continued several criminal cases this afternoon until the next term of court because there was not sufficient time to hear the cases this term of court. Among the cases carried over where those against Thomas Keating, Greeley Perkins, John Toolen and Hubert Moser, charged with using dynamite to kill fish, and the case against John Morford, charged with shooting with intent to kill. The affidavits against the four men for dynamiting were filed last May by deputy game wardens.

Judge Sparks and Prosecutor Stevens at first decided to try the cases Thursday and Friday of this week, but because of the shortness of time in which to prepare the cases it was thought best to carry them over until the next term of court, which begins Monday.

SEE GERMANY'S LOSS GREATER

English Today Believe Enemy Suffered More From North Sea
Battle Than Was Indicated.

DAMAGED CRUISER REPORTED

Admiralty Gives Out No Details on
Supplementary Engagement
Which Believed Disastrous.

(By United Press.)

London, Jan. 25.—Germany's naval forces have been struck the most crushing blow of the war. Reports that a four-funneled German cruiser badly damaged was sighted off the Holland coast early today reached here. It is the growing conviction here that German's losses in yesterday's North Sea Battle were greater than indicated.

Dutch reports said a crippled cruiser apparently of the type of the Stralsburg was limping at half sea toward the mouth of the Ems river. The admiralty had no details of this supplementary engagement but expressed belief that German casualties would be increased in later reports.

The war office says the German armored cruiser Bluecher was sunk and two of the enemy's battle cruisers were badly crippled when the German cruiser squadron attempted Sunday to repeat the recently made on the Hartlepool, Scarborough and other British coast towns. The British ships were injured only a few over a hundred of the Bluecher's crew of 885 were saved. In what is termed a supplementary engagement, the light cruisers and destroyers accompanying the bigger vessels fought, but reports of the damage afloat, enbottle damage have not been given out by the admiralty.

The British were superior in ships engaged, weight of armament and speed, and the flight of the German ships into the mine and submarine-infested field possibly saved them from further losses.

The Bluecher was a cruiser of 15,550 tons displacement, and although commissioned in 1908, was completely re-rigged last year. It was not classed as a battle cruiser, but was in the next class to those formidable fighters. With it were the Derfingier, Germany's latest battle cruiser, which had just left the builders' hands, and the battle cruisers Saydlitz and Moltke, the latter a sister ship of the Goeben, formerly of the German, but recently reported damaged by the Russians in the Black Sea.

Weather Man Says Another Rapid Descent of Mercury May be Expected Some Time Tonight.

SOME MORE SNOW IS ADDED

Not content with having the mercury set new records for rapid descent, the weather man is still talking cold weather. Difficult as it may seem to believe, he says it will be colder tonight. Well, the predicting Saturday night was for colder weather and there is none today who will say it was not colder. The thermometers hereabout almost hit the bottom of the tube, Sunday morning, many of them registering as low as ten degrees below zero.

The mercury this morning was close to zero, but on the top side, and today it was considerably warmer, but hardly "hot" enough to have a visible effect on the heavy snow that carpeted the earth today. Snow of last week was augmented somewhat last night. Snow began falling, driven to earth fiercely by a strong gale from the northeast, about nine o'clock Sunday evening and it is estimated that three or four inches of snow was added to the already heavy fall.

Germans Assert English Fleet Did Not Escape From North Sea Battle, Without Loss.

THEIR FLEET OUTNUMBERED

Today's Statement Admits Sinking of Bluecher But Declared Others Returned Unharmd.

(By United Press.)
Berlin, Jan. 25.—By Wireless to London, Destruction of a British battle cruiser in a great naval engagement in the North Sea Sunday morning was claimed in the official statement of the war office today.

The German war office admitted the loss of the Bluecher but declared other German cruisers engaged returned to the German naval base without material damage. The British, the statement declared, "discontinued the battle west-north-west of Helgoland and returned to their naval base."

"According to present reports," said the official statement, "the British lost one battle cruiser. We had the Bluecher sunk but other German ships returned to the harbor."

Four battle cruisers, accompanied by four small cruisers and two flotilla cruisers, were engaged, the German statement asserted. Steaming into the North Sea they encountered a British fleet of from four to five battle cruisers, some smaller cruisers and twenty-six flotilla cruisers.

PETIT AND GRAND
JURIES ARE DRAWN

Preparations Are Being Made For February Term of Circuit Court Which Opens Next Monday.

ONE SUIT DISMISSED TODAY

There was very little of importance going on in the circuit court today, one suit being dismissed. The suit was the account of William J. Henley and John L. Baker, doing a law business under the firm name and style of Henley and Baker, against Owen L. Carr, in which $1,750 was demanded. The case was dismissed by the plaintiff at his costs and leave was granted to withdraw the papers.

Both the petit and grand jurors for the February term of court, which opens next Monday, were drawn this morning. There has been no time set for either of the juries to report. The petit jury is as follows: Joseph J. Amos, Rushville township; C. H. Rogers, Washington; W. M. Bosley, Anderson; Benjamin F. Turner, Jackson; J. Frank Wilson, Noble; John N. Mull, Walker; E. O. Doan's have done great work in Rushville.

E. L. Hinkle, 641 North Sexton street, Rushville, says: "In 1900 I was on the verge of Bright's disease. I had sharp pains in my back and was hardly able to walk. I could not rest well. A friend who had been benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills recommended them and I got a supply. I soon found that they were helping me and I continued using them until cured."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hinkle had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advertisement.)

MAY ASK FOR LAW LIKE ILLINOIS

Becomes Known Today Indiana Suffragists Will Likely Seek Legislation at This Session.

NOT DEFINITELY DECIDED

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 25.—Indiana woman suffragists are considering a campaign at the present session of the legislature for a law similar to the Illinois law which would give them the right to vote for all statutory officers, including the president of the United States. This became known today. "My investigation shows that there is no doubt that the Indiana constitution makes limited woman's suffrage possible," said Mrs. S. C. Stimison of Terre Haute, chairman of the legislative program committee of the Woman's Legislative Council. "Personally I am in favor of the introduction of such a bill at this session. The council has not yet decided whether to back such a measure but is considering the question." The law would give women the right to vote in all city and school elections, for presidential electors and several state officers, it is said.

Retraction is Made.

The Republican state headquarters has sent out the following statement concerning retraction made by the Rushville Jacksonian:

This is the story of how one of the over zealous organs of Indiana Democracy had to "back up" in double quick time; how it had to retract a libelous statement regarding Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican state organization.

On January 9, the Rushville Jacksonian, Democratic, made the following statement in an editorial:

"Nothing has been said about Republican State Chairman Hays who seems to be usually active around the state house since the legislature conveyed."

In view of the fact that Chairman Hays had not, at the time that article was written, been in Indianapolis since Dec. 26, almost two weeks before the legislature opened, L. W. Henley, secretary of the Republican state committee, when a copy of this paper reached Republican state headquarters, went to Rushville and made a demand for a retraction of this libelous statement with the result that the following appeared in the editorial columns of this Democratic mouthpiece on Jan. 19.

"It is our desire to correct a mistake published in these columns the ninth of this month when it was stated in part that Will H. Hays had taken active charge of the minority policies in the state legislature by attending party caucuses and writing letters to members, although holding no office. Through the news columns it was stated later that such was not the case but feeling that an injustice was done to the chairman of the Republican party it is our desire to correct any erroneous impression that may have gone out to the effect that Mr. Hays was lobbying. As was stated a few days ago it has been learned that he has not been in Indianapolis since Dec. 26 and hence only right that such a accusation be corrected which we gladly do."

A farmer in this community once had a horse he wanted to sell. It was a valuable horse and should have brought a good price. For months he tried to sell the animal, but could not find a buyer at his figure. He finally sold it for about $25 less than its value, rather than carry it through the winter.

Now it happened that just across the line in another county there was another farmer who was looking for such a horse, but was unable to find it. Then he inserted a little ad in the home paper, which brought him a number of offers, one of which he reluctantly accepted.

The first farmer did not take the home paper, and of course did not see the little ad of the man who wanted a horse, and who would have purchased his animal at a good price.

By not taking the paper he saved the subscription price of $3 and likewise lost $24 by not seeing the other fellow's ad.

Such occurrences are happening every day right here in this community, in which people actually lose good money because they do not take their home paper, and hence do not know of many of the opportunities that are placed before them.

The man who takes the paper and reads it carefully each day not only knows what is going on, but he is in fact money ahead at the end of the year by knowing what, when and where to buy.

"Penny wise and pound foolish" is exemplified in many ways.

LIQUOR TOPIC
OF TWO SERMONS

brewers and the distillers. It does not square with the statements which are published in liquor organs, and which they send out to solicitors of the trade. The most prominent men in a local option fight are brewery agents. Why so active if the brewery is selling more liquor in a dry town? It is another liquor lie which fools a great many good people. An investigation of liquor shipments into dry territory shows that nothing like the amount is shipped in as when the territory is wet.

"Some liquor will always be sold in 'dry' territory so long as the laws are made to protect, perpetuate and favor the liquor interests. Yet with such laws as we have, the condition without the saloons is better than with them. The open saloon is a menace to the public peace. It is the instigator of brawls which often result in murder. It makes a condition which is a nuisance to the public. A highly respectable woman told me the other day that she would hate to see the saloons voted in, for no woman could pass along the streets without hearing profanity, and seeing other things which would shock her self-respect. Bums and old soaks hang about a saloon like flies around a molasses barrel, and disturb the public peace with their indecency.

"If the saloons are voted in will they see that the drinking is according to the law? Can the men who engage in this business be trusted to keep the law? They have loud things to say about blind tigers when a town is 'dry.' But who makes possible the blind tigers, if not the breweries and the distillers? Do not they ship in their liquor in barrels and boxes falsely labeled? What is this but lawlessness which is aimed at breaking down temperance sentiment. Can a traffic which does this be trusted to keep the law when it is licensed?

"Much is said about the drinking of young men when a town is dry. Will there be no liquor sold to minors if the saloons come back? Will a trade which is lawless in other ways, see that with regard to minors the drinking will be according to law? A licensed saloon encourages young men to drink. It wants their change. Besides, the success of its business rests upon making young men steady drinkers. Men of the trade are not particular about them being under age.

"Will the return of the saloons rid us of 'blind tigers'? They will only give us several more. For every saloon is a blind tiger. No saloon sells according to the law. In one local option fight in this state the saloon advocates promised that they would rid the city of blind tigers if successful in the election. They bought the election and got their licenses on the ground of 'good moral character,' but they never did away with any 'blind tigers.' They couldn't, because they were violating the law as much as the 'blind tigers.'

"Officials are severely criticised for not enforcing the law against the 'blind tigers.' If officials are sufficiently in sympathy with the trade as not to enforce the law here, how can they be expected to enforce it against the licensed saloon? Where then will be the gain if the saloons come back? If there were any assurance that the law would be rigidly enforced against the saloon there would be some reason in the argument. The enforcement of law against the saloon by a lax administration would be more feeble, for the licensed traffic would have a more powerful secret 'influence.'

"The trade is not conducted according to the law, because it seeks to bribe and brow-beat the officials. In one city in which I lived two saloon keepers brutally assaulted a faithful officer, and nothing was ever done to them. In another city the mayor ran on a food citizenship ticket, was elected, and later sold out the peace of the city to the lawless liquor element, and for what 'consideration,' no one knew.

"One more count against the traffic is that it always seeks to buy the election. There is no evidence more convincing of the unrighteousness of the trade than this. They are afraid to trust it to the votes of good citizens. They mean to make the town 'wet' whether or not the citizenship invites it by their votes. In such case it is thrust upon the people like some unjust system of taxation is imposed upon a province by a tryout. Plenty of money is in the hands of 'wet' workers on election day. Is it their savings which they are spending? Not at all. It is the money furnished by the wealthy brewers, who are insisting on selling their 'wares' in your town whether you want them or not. They are unwilling and too lawless to abide by your votes. They will bribe and buy their way through that they may corrupt your city, making drunkards out of your sons, adulteresses out of your daughters, and increase the debts of your merchants. He who signs a petition for such an election and votes for the return of the saloon is abetting a vicious element in its work of lawlessness, whether he means to do so or not."

First Baptist

At the evening service at the First Baptist church the Rev. S. G. Huntington, following the move of the other ministers of the city, dealt at length on the coming option election taking for his text "A Wonderful and Horrible Thing is Committed in the Land," Jer. 5:30. He said in part as follows:

"While we hear it said on every hand that the reins of government have been held too slack the past months in Rushville, yet it is not true as liquor men say that Rushville is worse off without the saloons than with them. Of course, the 'wets' set up a howl of this kind for effect, but it is an old trick of theirs and only a few, mostly semidrys, assert their conversion to it. 'Some people you know want an excuse to turn themselves loose and show their true self, and in this instance they find it in the thick stammering tongue of the 'boozers.' Its better 'wet' than 'dry.'

No honest man should be deceived by this stuttering declaration from the cauterized throats of the whiskey element. Granting that the law has not been enforced as popular judgments think that should have been, yet with all Rushville is better off by far than when the saloons were here, and let the law be enforced as it should be without fear or favor and the effort for a clean city and better morals will be complete.

"But may I ask who it is that is clamoring for a 'wet' town? Surely not those who have the deepest interest in our city's highest good. Not those who would remove temptation from among our youth. Not those who would maintain a high standard of home life or the benefit of our citizenship in any way. No, it is none of these for the liquor traffic is the greatest enemy in the land to young manhood, the home and good morals.

"From personal observation it seems to me that those who want the saloon restored first of all are of course those who want to engage in the business, the fellows, the would-be patrons, the cheap politicians, the fellow perchance who has an old shack to rent and lastly the bleared-eyed chronic saloon loafer. But we dare not stop here, there are others. Those whose social relationship is such that they do not want to come out in the open. Follow the express wagons and you can locate some of the most dangerous foes of temperance within the boundaries of Rushville. I am told that there are those who have their 'Sunday beer parties' on Flatrock in the summer time, while others take long joy rides loaded down with bottled goods. Such are silently, but never-the-less decidedly supporting the liquor traffic.

"Yes there is a big fight now on. I am glad our church is a unit on this question. As a religious body it is the only consistent position to hold. It did me a world of good the other evening to see every man in our Bible class of about forty members register themselves against the saloon and for a 'dry' town. Such action means victory. Now is the time for every 'dry' man to show his colors. Rushville must be kept 'dry.'

First Presbyterian.

The subject of the morning service at the First Presbyterian church was "This one Thing I Do," taken from Philippians 3:12 to 14 verse. In his message to his beloved church at Philippi which he calls "My Brethren, My Dearly Beloved and Longed For, my Joy and my Crown" the great apostle pleads mightily with them for ideals of perfection.

He himself does not profess to have attained thereto but he would stir them up to holy, ambitions by his own determined resolution—"I count not myself to have apprehended but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Sitting himself in this determined race he will first of all be very careful to put himself in the right attitude to all about him.

Turning himself to the past he casts a grateful look back across the experience of the years with its joys and sorrows, its persecutions and afflictions recalling that through it all God has brought him out "More than Conqueror." But he realizes that he cannot linger there so he turns to the realities of the present and faces the future with glad triumphant faith and stands ready for the race before him. His whole life is centered in this definite purpose with one supreme effort. He forgets all else beside, "This one Thing I Do" becomes the slogan of his life. There were many worthy things which he might have done but he was satisfied to do only the best things.

Life is so short to accomplish many things so the greatest success in life comes by specializing, by putting all our energy into one particular thing. Many a young man graduates from college with a smattering of mathematics and latin, and greek, and literature, and settles down to some position at $800 a year while Mr. Vanderbilt pays his chief cook $10,000 just because he knows all about that one thing. What is needed in this age above all else is specialists in Christianity. That was the burning passion of the great apostle—That he Might be Like Christ—That he might justly say "For me to Live is Christ"—That the whole world might be swept into the kingdom by that enthusiasm which is born of the Christ within.

This is the first element in this determined purpose of the man who might well be called the great Christian of all the ages. It is the great need in the church today. When the church shall be thoroughly in earnest, when it catches that vision of its crucified Lord which will send it forth to save a world which is actually dying without Christ then there will be no question about the world being swept into the kingdom.

When the greatest criminal of the last century was being led to the gallows for execution in London the chaplain walked by his side and offered to him the consolation of religion and the noted criminal turned fiercely upon him and said "Why man if I believed that I'd crawl across England on my hands and knees on broken glass to tell men about it." The second element in this determined effort of the great apostle was the appreciation of the high standing which Christ had set for him. "I press forward if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended."

What we need is God's standard not man's. A short time ago the world renowned John R. Mott wrote: "When I made my first tour of the world's mission I came back with a great realization that what was needed was large numbers of young men and women to volunteer for the foreign field. After I came back from a second tour of the world's missions I felt that what was needed was great numbers of native workers who might be trained for service and sent out to win the heathen world but since I have come back from my third world tour, I have come to feel that neither of these things is the supreme need of this age but that what is most needed is a few persons whom God can holy use.

WOMAN'S EVIDENCE
UPHOLDS CLAIMS

Says: "I Wish All Nervous, Weak, Rundown Women Could Have Vinol, It Did So Much for Me."

Beallsville, Ohio.—"Vinol has done so much for me I wish all nervous, weak, run-down women could have it. I was so run-down, weak, and nervous I could not sleep nights. Everything I ate hurt me, and the medicine I had taken did me no good. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it. I had not taken it long, before I could eat anything I wanted without hurting me, and I could sleep all night. Now I am well and strong, and in better health than I have been for years. I never spent money for medicine that did me so much good as that I spent for Vinol."—Mrs. ANNA MILLISON, Beallsville, Ohio.

If the careworn, tired, overworked women, the pale, sickly children and feeble old folks around here would follow Mrs. Millison's example, they, too, would soon be able to say that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy, had built them up and made them strong.

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron, that makes Vinol so successful in such cases.

New York, Jan. 25.—There will be few fresh faces in the chorus when Jawn McGraw rolls up the asbestos on his opening performance of the season at the Polo Grounds a few months hence. According to all the dope thus far gathered, the Giants will present about the same caste that was pushed out of the pennant chase by the Braves last season.

McGraw will lead a caravan of about 50 baseballers to Marlin, Tex. for spring training and there is the customary 1 out of 10 chance that he will pick a few winners from the green stuff. The general belief is, however, that excepting the locating of Hans Lobert at third, only one or two other changes will be made in the lineup.

The Giant pilot believes that shunting Lobert in a third plugs up one of the weakest spots in his machine, a weakness that he thinks put his team out of the world's championship series last fall. There is a possibility that Larry Doyle may be replaced by a youngster, unless he retrieves his batting eye and of course it will be McGraw's job to keep his eye working for real pitching timber.

With Al Denaree gone in the trade with the Phillies, and Ruben Mar-quard making such noise about playing with the Brookfeds, McGraw will have but three regulars at Marlin—Mathewson, Tesreau and Fromme. Though Matty's late campaigning indicated a tendency toward slipping, he is being counted upon to go through the season with a creditable if not brilliant performance.

Bill Ritter is one of the youngsters McGraw believes may get a regular job and while he is wintering in Cuba he will look, over Palmiero, the Cuban southpaw, who is touted as certain, of a regular job on the Giant's hurling corps.

The Giants, by the way, may pick up some of the loose change lying around El Paso, Tex., and Juarez, Mex. on the day before the Willard Johnson fight. The Giants are scheduled to play an exhibition at Dallas on March 6, preceding the battle, but are giving serious consideration to a proposal for an exhibition game at El Paso, either with the Cleveland Naps, who will be at San Antonio, or with their own Yannigans.

EXECUTOR BRINGS SUIT

Austen Frazee Demands $200 Damages From C. C. C. & St. L.

Austen Frazee, as executor of the will of the late Stephen C. Blackledge, has filed suit against the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway demanding damages in the sum of $200. Mr. Frazee alleges in the complaint that the railway company was responsible for a fire in the thirty-acre field of clover, resulting in a loss of $200. He states that the fire occurred after he had taken charge of the property as executor of the estate.

The trial of the case of Edward A. Frazee of this city, against the National Land Company, has been set for March 15 in the Henry circuit court. It was sent to Newcastle on a change of venue.

Letter Said to Have Been Found In Early Days of Christianity

The following clipping concerning a letter which is said to have been written by Christ and to which there is attached a superstition that any person who comes into possession of it and does not have it published will be visited by misfortune, has been handed to The Daily Republican with the request that it be printed:

The original letter, said to have been written by Christ, was found in the early days of Christianity by a child.

There is a promise that whoever may have a copy of this letter in their possession will prosper and be followed by good fortune, if they publish it, but if they do not heed the command, bad luck and misfortune will follow them until it is made public.

From the hands of the child who found it the letter is said to have passed into the possession of a convert to the Christian faith. For some reason this convert failed to have the letter published. He kept it, however, as a sacred memento of Christ and it passed on to his eldest son and on down through many generations, but never was published.

The tradition being that when it finally was given publicly, it had been in this one family for more than a thousand years.

During all this period of time, the story goes, the family suffered repeated and continuous misfortune.

Discouraged members of the family migrated to countries other than where the letter was found, which was evidently Palestine, and finally one of them came to America, bringing the fateful letter with him.

The family having possession of it settled in Virginia, still keeping the fact of the letter a secret.

Descendants of the family moved farther south, still followed by misfortune.

Finally, as the last member of the family lay on her death bed she called a neighbor woman named Thompson and gave the letter to her, relating its history.

The Thompson woman's attempts to have it published were rewarded when it appeared in the Rome (Ga.) Tribune, Oct. 31, 1891. From there it was reprinted in the Dalton, (Ga.) Citizen and Mrs. Fannie Wortman of Marion, Ind., clipped it from the paper, keeping it in her possession for many years. Recently Mrs. Wortman had it republished in a Marion paper, stating that during the time she had retained the letter in her possession without having it published, or attempting to, she has had a species of bad luck which she attributes to her failure to secure publicity for the letter.

It is my prayer that this be published.

Here is the letter:

"Whosoever work on the Sabbath day shall be cursed. I command you to go to church and keep holy the Lord's day without any manner of work. You shall not idle or misspend your time in bedecking yourselves in superfluities of costly apparel and vain dressing, for I have ordered it a day of rest. I will have that day kept holy that your sins may be forgiven you.

"You will not break my commandments, but observe and keep them, they being written by my hand and spoken from my mouth.

"You will not only go to church yourself, but also your man servant and maid servant. Observe my words and learn my commandments. You shall finish your work every Saturday at 6 o'clock in the afternoon at which hour the preparation for the Sabbath begins. I advise you to fast five Fridays in the year, beginning on Good Friday and continuing the Fridays following, in remembrance of the five blood wounds I received for you and mankind.

"You shall love one another, and cause them that are not baptized to come to church and receive the holy sacrament—that is to say baptism, and then the supper of the Lord, and be made a member thereof, and in so doing I will give you a long life and many blessings. Your land shall be replenished and bring forth abundance and I will comfort you in the greatest temptation, and surely he that doeth to the contrary shall be cursed.

"I will also send hardness of heart on them, and especially on hardened and impenitent unbelievers. He that hath given to the poor shall find it profitable.

Sabbath day injunction:
"Remember to keep holy the Sabbath day. For the seventh day I have taken as a resting day to myself.

"And he that hath a copy of this letter from my own mouth, and keepeth it, without publishing it to others, shall not prosper, but he that publisheth it to others shall be blessed by me, and if their sins be as many as the stars at night, and if they truly believe they shall be pardoned, and they that believe not this writing and my commandments will have my plague upon you, and you will be consumed with your children, goods, cattle, and all other worldly enjoyments that I have given you. Do but once think of what I have suffered for you; if you do, it will be well for you in this world and in the world which is to come.

"Whosoever shall have a copy of this letter and keep it in their house, nothing shall hurt them, neither pestilence, lightning, nor thunder; and if any woman be in birth and put her trust in me she shall be delivered of her child. You shall have no more news of me except through the Holy Scripture, until the day of judgment. All goodness and prosperity shall be in the house where a copy of this letter shall be found.

Finished."

IOWA WOMAN TELLS OTHERS

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Carried Her Safely Through Change of Life.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"At the Change of Life the doctor said I would have to give up my work and take my bed for some time as there was no help for me but to lie still. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and kept up my work and now I am over the Change and that is all I took. It was better for me than all the doctor's medicines I tried. Many people have no faith in patent medicines but I know this is good."—Mrs. E. J. RICKETS, 354 8th Avenue, West, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, back-aches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

BOY CORN KINGS ARE BACK HOME

Youthful Hoosiers, One of Whom Was Rush County Lad, Attract Attention in Washington.

ARE SUBJECT OF BULLETIN

Agricultural Department Explains in Detail What Boys Accomplished to Win Prizes.

Roy McAhren, son of L. W. McAhren, who was one of the six Indiana boy corn champions who were taken to Washington last week by virtue of having won the prizes in their various districts in Indiana for the best corn growing average, arrived home yesterday. The boys saw the sights of Washington, called on the secretary of agriculture and attracted considerable attention during their visit.

The six youthful "corn kings" of Indiana were the subject of a bulletin just issued by the United States department of agriculture which explained in detail what the boys accomplished.

Each of these boys during the last year, explains the bulletin, raised more than 106 bushels of corn on his one-acre plot, and the cost per bushel ranged from about 9 to 18 cents in the special cases. The exact yields and costs per bushel are as follows: Champion county yield bushel per acre, cost per bushel, cents: Wayland Ziesness, Lake, 108.75, 9.76; Arthur Trout, Delaware, 106.12, 11.50; Roy McAhren, Rush, 110.36, 18.70; Roy Friedersdorf, Bartholomew, 128.83, 12.60; Fred Thomas, Posey, 116.53, 8.92.

The fine records made by these boys, however, do not tell the whole story, for these are merely the very best. There were many other good records which deserve commendation. The state leader says that one of the club members who particularly attracted his attention because of his work was not able to qualify as one of the five champions.

Speaking of this young man's interest in the work, as a sample of the way in which the corn club idea is becoming popular, the state leader says as follows: "Wayne Lear, of Grant county, came to the Indiana state corn show last year as a town-ship winner. He had a sample of corn that I thought was the best sample in the show, but on final scoring he did not win first place. He attracted my attention first in the corn show room by the manner in which he lined up his exhibit and the care with which he placed the ears and put the right ear right.

"He did not win out in the state contest, that is, first place on the judging of the exhibit. He did not win any special distinction in the show except an honorable mention, as one having grown over 100 bushels of corn to the acre and as one who had scored up very well on the four-point basis. Wayne went back to Grant county, and last year after the show, organized a county corn growers' association among the boys.

"He organized that and put it in working operation for the corn club there this spring. He is president of that organization and in the schools he is recognized, and throughout the country, as quite an authority on corn. He grows purebred corn. He was interested in the school's industrial exhibit that the county agent inaugurated a little while ago.

"He was on the job all the time at the industrial fair, one of the largest school fairs in the state. Wayne was around looking after the judging and assisting with the exhibits, and around taking care of things in general. He is fifteen years of age, and is selling corn now and expects to make more this year than the last year."

U. P. MEETINGS DRAW TO CLOSE

The Rev. Frederick Elliott of Springhill Makes Many Friends in Short Stay Here

2 PERSONS ARE BAPTIZED

God's Ownership and Appreciation of His People Emphasized in Night Sermon

The special meetings, at the U. P. church under the leadership of the Rev. Frederick Elliott of Springhill, closed last night. The Lord's Supper was observed yesterday morning, and at that service twelve persons, who had confessed acceptance of Christ as their Saviour, uniting with the church, were baptized. Two children, were also baptized, being dedicated to God by their parents. At the evening service, two more persons were received into the membership of the congregation, one of whom was baptized. Still others have expressed the purpose to live the Christian life.

During the meetings, Mr. Elliott made many friends. Every sermon was a message of power. His addresses were expository in style, opening up the Scriptures. He did not so much give his own thoughts as he compelled his hearers to recognize God's thoughts. He was keen in logic; very apt in the use of illustrations. His delivery as well as his subject matter was pleasing. The people who heard him were sorry to see him go. He will be gladly welcomed when he comes again.

Yesterday morning, he pictured vividly the scenes of that memorable night when Jesus instituted the Lord's supper.

Last night, the text was Mal 3:17 "And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of Hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels." God's ownership and appreciation of his people were emphasized, while the prophets words were used to show what people really are the Lord's prized, peculiar treasure. Not all of the priests—ministers—are really God's people; Not all of the people of Judah, the favored tribe or family, he said, but those who "returned unto the Lord," "who thought upon his name," "who spoke often one to another" about the things of God; those who loved and trusted and obeyed.

CONNERSVILLE MAN SUCCUMBS HERE

WAS TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL

Harry Dawson, 31 years old, of Connersville, died last night about midnight at the Sexton sanatorium following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Dawson was taken seriously ill while here on business last Tuesday and it was found that he was suffering from acute appendicitis and an operation was performed in the hopes of saving his life. He was born and reared in Orange and had lived in Connersville for the last five or six years. At the time he was taken ill he was employed as day ticket agent by the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company.

The remains were taken to the residence of his sister, Mrs. Jesse Winkler, 825 North Morgan street. He is survived by his widow and one son, Windle. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Winkler, and Mrs. Clayton Smith, and four brothers, Richard, John, George and Murray Dawson, of Orange. The funeral services will be conducted Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock in the Orange Methodist church and burial will take place in the cemetery north of Orange.

DOPE AGAINST JESS WILLARD

He May Grab Championship Crown From Jack Johnson But There Are Doubters Galore.

ACCUSED OF LACKING NERVE

Not Considered An Aggressive Campaigner and This May Be Against Him in Big Fight

BY HAL SHERIDAN
 (Written for United Press.)

New York, Jan. 25.—Jess Willard may grab the championship crown from Jack Johnson late of Chicago and still later Parisian brawler, at their little meeting in Juarez, Mex in March but there are doubters galore.

The Kansas cowboy, the expert are now busy pointing out, has the heft, the ability to take punishment and a medium-sized punch. The chief objection seems to be that he lacks ring experience and that his attitude in the squared circle is entirely too mild.

Willard is now accused of lacking nerve, but many critics complain that he is not an aggressive campaigner. And they figure that the man who takes the title from "Ly Arthah" must go after the dusk, one from the start to give him a whale of a beating.

Those fight birds who look to Willard to win believe Johnson has gone back at a tremendous pace. Also there are some cautious suggestion from certain quarters that while the title is getting worthless to Johnson because he is barred from the United States, it would prove of immense money-getting value to the Kansas. The boys who wager money on the scrap are not losing sight of this fact either.

Reports from Juarez say that the Mexican gambling house proprietor curio shop dealers and gents whose bars have never been known to close are washing their pink and blue store fronts and preparing for a big business. Incidentally, General Villa's brother, part owner of the biggest gambling dive in the border town, counts on grabbing out of the throng of fight bugs about as much coin as Johnson or Willard.

If Johnson emerges from the Juarez bout safely, he will be confronted by the two "Sams" McVey and Langford, who are waiting for a crack at their colored brother Johnson is now thirty-seven years old and it looks like a sure bet that the crown will drop from his peak if not in one of these prospective battles, at least within a short time.

OHIO WOMAN'S DROPSY CURED!

Tells Everybody How This Happy Result was Produced.

Dear Editor:—For a long time I had been suffering from dropsy. I had puffy puffed cheeks, my feet, ankles and abdomen were swollen to twice their natural size and a finger pressure on the swelling left a white dent which remained for some time. This water often pressed against my heart and caused a smothering sensation. I had severe headaches, continuous backache, dizzy sensations and rheumatic pains throughout my entire body. The kidneys were off in their action and this poison backed up in my system. In spite of my doctoring and the taking of many remedies I obtained no relief.

Finally I was given a few Lloyd's kidney and rheumatism tablets, the new scientific prescription. These did me such good that I at once got a larger size and in a week's time all the swelling, backache, and other symptoms left me like magic. I now feel like a new woman.

Lloyd's Tablets deserve all the credit for curing me of the trouble and ridding me of the terrible agony. I advise all to be sure and get from their druggists today, Lloyd's, the kind that cured me and cleanse their kidneys before too late.

Mrs. Emma Neeb.

DEMOCRATS PICK UP "HOT POTATO"

Most of Them in Legislature Would Have Preferred to Leave Primary Legislation Alone.

BUT BILL IS BEFORE THEM

Majority Will Have to Wrestle With Problem as Best it Can, McKinley's Birthday.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—The Democrats in the state legislature have pickled up their "hot potato"—the state wide primary bill. They did not want to do this—in fact most of them would have much preferred not to even look at it—and they would not if there had not been a few perverse "Indians" on the preservation who hold to the old fashioned notion that whenever a political party writes a pledge to do something in its platform on which it asks for popular support that that party's representatives in the legislature should do everything in their power to fulfill that solemn party promise.

Now there are Democrats in the Indiana legislature who are determined that the promise of a state wide primary law, written into the last Democratic state platform should be redeemed and strange to say there are more of the Democratic representatives who are backing up the Democratic state machine workers in their determination that the present legislature shall not enact a primary law.

One thing is absolutely certain; in the language of the late John E. Lamb "the horses eyes are set." The Democratic leaders do not intend to pass a primary law. However, they recognize in this subject, a most embarrassing matter. What they would like to do would be to squelch the few Democratic representatives who are "bugs" on this subject—chloroform them, sandbag them, anything to keep them still—but they realize that there is about as much chance of accomplishing this much to be desired end as there is that Bryan will ever be elected President of the United States.

Jones of Plymouth is the most troublesome representative that the Democratic machine leaders have to deal with at this time. Jones has chucked his much heralded primary bill into the hopper and Jones will be able to muster sufficient backing to "raise Cain" to a limited extent. The storm that the Jones bill is bound to raise will be one of the most interesting of the present session, unless all signs fail.

McKinley's birthday—Jan. 29—will be more generally celebrated by the people of Indiana this year than ever before. Word is coming into Republican state headquarters that arrangements are being made all over the state for a fitting celebration of the anniversary of the birth of our last martyred president. Among Republicans it is especially fitting that this should be the case this year. Political and commercial conditions throughout the United States today are very similar to those obtaining twenty years ago when McKinley first began looming up as the Moses who was to lead the people of this country out of the despair and depression caused by the enactment of a Democratic tariff bill in 1893. Developments of the last two years have added materially to the potency of the name of (the) William McKinley and the memory of this patriot and his achievements promises to have a most powerful influence in shaping the conclusions of the Republican party in this nation when the crucial campaign of 1916 opens.

In a number of Indiana towns arrangements have already been made for neighborhood meetings on McKinley's birthday and in a number of cities plans have been made for celebrations on a more elaborate scale. In Indianapolis the day will be celebrated by an open meeting of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association at the Marion Club where United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, of Illinois will be the principal speaker.

The impression has gone forth that there are but 38 Republican members in the lower house of the Indiana General Assembly. All accounts to date have been a bit short—there are 39 Republicans in that body. The political complexion of the house of representatives is 60 Democrats, 39 Republicans and one Progressive. In the House of 1911 there were 40 Republicans, practically the same division as this year.

SALLIE ANN COOK EXPIRES

Pneumonia and Complications Fatal to Neff's Corner Woman

Miss Sallie Ann Cook, 82 years old, a well known and highly respected resident of Neff's Corner, died Saturday night at ten o'clock at her home there after a three weeks' illness from pneumonia and a complication of diseases. Miss Cook had lived there most of her life. She is survived by no near relatives and leaves two nephews, Abe Cook, of Indianapolis, and Fred Cook, of Tipton, and three cousins, Mrs. Clinton Cox and Joseph and John Barber, of this county. Short services were conducted at the residence this afternoon and the remains were taken to Dublin, Ind., where burial will take place tomorrow.

Obituary.

James Morris Lindale, second son of Wesley and Maria Lindale, was born in Noble township, Rush county, Jan. 30th, 1858. Died Jan. 22d, 1915, aged 56 years, 11 months and 22 days, having spent his entire life in Noble township, November 24th, 1881, he was united in marriage with Lydia Ann Mack of Fayette County, Ind., who survives him. To this union were born four children. Mrs. Myrtle Lewis of Robertson, Iowa, Clarence Lindale, of Lackawanna, N. Y., and Myra and James of the home.

He is also survived by his aged parents, one sister, Mrs. A. G. Putman of Indianapolis, and one brother, John Lindale of near Glenwood.

Mr. Lindale united with the Glenwood Methodist Episcopal church in the autumn of 1882 under the ministry of Rev. J. W. Dashiell. He has always been a faithful Christian contributing liberally of both his time and means to his Master's work. He served as Steward of the Glenwood church for years and was a Trustee at the time of his death.

He was a faithful student of his Bible and even in his delirium during his last illness he repeated whole chapters from the word of God.

On the 17th of November last he was attacked by neuritis in his left arm, which culminated on the morning of Dec. 28th in a stroke of paralysis. From this he never fully rallied and at 2:30 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 22d he quietly sank into the sleep from which he has awakened in his Father's house.

"And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away."

"A precious one from us is gone. A voice we loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled. God in his wisdom has recalled. The boon His love had given. And though the body moulders here, The soul is safe in Heaven. 27211.

OPENS SERIES OF MEETINGS HERE

Dr. Z. T. Sweeney of New York Will Preach on Fundamentals of Christian Doctrine.

PREACHES TWICE SUNDAY

God Created Universe by Miracle, he Says, But Now Governs by Natural Law.

Large audiences greeting Dr. Z. T. Sweeney at his first appearance at the Main Street Christian church yesterday for his series of sermons on the fundamentals of Christian doctrine. Dr. Sweeney is an eloquent preacher of great power and the audiences of yesterday augur well for a very successful series of meetings.

The speaker took—for his morning subject the question, "Do We Need Miracles Today?" He showed that God always creates by miracle and propagates by natural law.

"God created the universe by miracle but now He governs and controls it by natural laws," he said. "Likewise He created the church by miracle and then governs and propagates it by the great laws of faith, hope and love. There were certain great wants in the beginning of Christianity that could only be met by the supernatural, but when once met miracles were no longer needed, and they were then suspended and all that is now needed is for God's children to be full of faith, hope, and love. These great principles are entirely sufficient for the evangelization of the world."

At night he discussed the Bible. He showed that God made man and also the book that is to redeem man from sin. If these do not fit each other it is God's mistake, he said.

"The Bible as it is adapted to man as he is," he declared. "It is to be understood and interpreted by the same laws as any other book. Matthew, Mark, Luke and John tell us he acts about Christ. Acts of Apostles tells us how to come to Christ. The Epistles from Romans to Jude tell us how to live with Christ and Revelation tells us of the fortunes of the Church and the destiny of the faithful."

Tonight he will speak on, "Is There a God and May We Know It?" He will examine the subject in the light of pure reason. He asks the audience to be the jury and he will present the testimony. His hearers can then return the verdict.

Carefully Treat Children's Colds

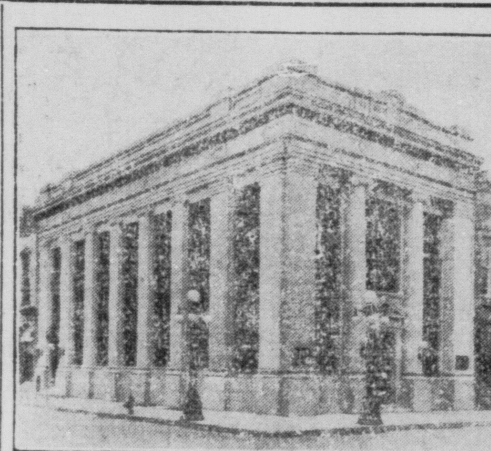

Neglect of children's colds often lays the foundation of serious lung trouble. On the other hand, it is harmful to continually dose delicate little stomachs with internal medicines or to keep the children always indoors.

Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a good application of Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve over the throat and chest at the first sign of trouble, will keep the little chaps free from colds without injuring their digestions. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.

$3000.00 FIRE PREVENTED

The House the Red Jacket Saved

Read This Letter:
"Several years ago I called on Lane & Evans to buy a pump and they almost forced me to buy one of your Fig. 28 Red Jacket Double-Acting Force Pumps and fifty feet of hose when I only intended to buy a cheap set length pump. Mr. Lane put up such strong argument on 'fire protection' that I followed his advice and bought the Fig. 28, little thinking that it would be of any service to me in that respect.

Shortly after the pump was installed, my barn caught fire and had it not been for this pump and hose and the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Barnett, my barn, house and all buildings on the place would have been destroyed."

SCHOOL REVENUE IS APPORTIONED

Deputy Auditor Bales Distributes
Rush County's Share of Fund
Among the Townships

RUSHVILLE LEADS THEM ALL

Per Capita Rate is $2.13 and There
Are 1,290 of School Age in the City.

Distribution of the common school revenue and the congressional interest was made today by Deputy Auditor Bales to the various township trustees. A total of $10,002.69 was sent to the various townships. Of this amount $9,292.14 was from the common school revenue fund.

The money has been apportioned back to the counties by the state and Rush county as usual loses in the transaction. A total of $16,801.98 was paid the state from the school fund in the December settlement and Rush county got back only $9,292.14 a loss of $7,509.84. This is always the case with Rush county under the present law.

In making the apportionment to the various township trustees the amount is $2.13 per capita and it necessarily results that the township with a larger number of children receives a greater amount of money. The city of Rushville naturally receives a greater sum of money than any of the township trustees. In Rushville City there are 1,290 school children and the treasurer of the school board today received a warrant for $2,749.51 in school revenue and congressional interest.

The settlement of the county with the township trustees shows that are a total of 4,693 school children in the county. The settlement is made twice a year and this is based on the December settlement of the county with the state.

The distribution of the funds among the various townships was as follows:

	No. of Children	Interest	Common School	Total
Anderson	370	$97.71	$690.92	$788.63
Center	242	33.34	452.46	515.60

FOR ROBBING POSTOFFICE

Two Men, Who Admit They Are
Criminals, Given 4 Years Each

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 25.—Admitting themselves to be hardened criminals but pleading for leniency for their young companions Edward Conway, age 61, and James Hackon succeeded in their plea but received four-years sentences in federal prison today at the hands of Federal Judge Anderson. The two former convicts obtained a two-year sentence for Ed Myers who they said had never been in bad before.

These 3 men were the principals in a thrilling chase across the northern part of the state through Garrett and Auburn after they had robbed the postoffice at Avilla of $344.53. Blood hounds were used.

James E. Watson's class of St. Paul's M. E. Sunday school will meet Tuesday evening at seven-thirty o'clock with Mrs. Will M. Sparks.

DOCTOR STRUCK BY CAR

J. H. Hohe of Connersville Dies
Four Hours After Mishap

(By United Press.)
Connersville, Ind., Jan. 25.—Dr. J. H. Hohe, age sixty-one years, a well known physician here, was hit by an Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company's car at a stop three miles west of here last night and died four hours later. Dr. Hohe was conscious after being struck and said that in attempting to flag the car he had stood too close to the track. The blinding snow storm last night was thought to have confused him and made it impossible to see just how close the car was to him.

ALMANAC PRINTED BEFORE REVOLUTION

Mrs. William J. Finney Has Old
Book Issued in Pennsylvania
For the Year 1769.

IS STILL IN GOOD SHAPE

Mrs. William J. Finney, 423 East Second street, has an old pocket almanac which dates back to a period before the revolutionary in this country. It has been handed down from generation to generation in her family and is still very well preserved although votes which were made in the book in pen and lead pencil are hardly legible now.

The little book was known as the Pennsylvania pocket almanac for the year 1769, which makes it one hundred and forty-six years old. "Being the first after Bissextile or leap year," says the almanac on the title page. "Calculated for the use of the province of Pennsylvania and the neighboring provinces."

The little almanac had a prediction for every day of the year and one side of each page was left blank to be used for making memorandums.

MAY BE EXTENDED ON TO MUNCIE NOW

Local Division of L. E. & W. is Not Working Satisfactorily Under
New Schedule.

TERMINAL MAY BE CHANGED

Another change in the train service between this city and Newcastle is likely to be made soon, according to reliable information. The present service is not turning out to expectations, especially on the return trip from Newcastle to this city. Superintendent O'Brien and the trainmaster of the road were here yesterday in consultation with the local agent, W. A. Woolen.

The plan under consideration now is to extend the local division to Muncie and have this city the terminal instead of Newcastle. The crew of the train now does all the switching for the Newcastle factories and because this is so heavy the train is always late in getting started back to this city. The agent here has been kept on duty as late as midnight and the officials say something will have to be done. In case the local division is extended to Muncie and through service is established another crew would be secured to take care of the switching in Newcastle. The crew states that this is a day's work without making the run to Rushville for the night.

ENTERING CLASS LIQUOR TOPIC TWICE AS LARGE OF TWO SERMONS

Twenty-Eight Pupils Begin High
School Work Today When Second Semester Opens Here.

NEW SUBJECTS ARE OFFERED

Much Stress is Being Laid on Grammar and Composition Work
This Year in High School.

A class numbering twenty-eight, which is twice as large as any former class, entered the high school for the first time today. The mid-winter classes in former years have been about one-half as large as this and with entrance of this number the high school is very crowded.

Several new subjects are offered in the high school this term. The Freshmen class will be given a different course in study, varying somewhat from the past. The course will consist of commercial arithmetic, political and industrial geography, grammar and oral composition, and in connection with the literary work, a book entitled, "Types of Short Story," will be studied.

Stress is being placed on grammar and composition work this term in high school more than ever before and Prof. Wilson has organized an advanced class in grammar. This course is especially designed for those contemplating teaching following their graduation from high school and is an advanced study in English work.

Among the new classes formed is one in bookkeeping. Miss Leta Denny is teaching this work, starting this term. A class in practical bookkeeping was formed last year and proved very successful and Miss Denny decided to try it again this term. The work is to be practical and will be a great aid to any student intending to take up this line of work.

Other new classes consist of a public speaking department, under the direction of Earl Marlatt, and an advanced course in algebra. The algebra course is especially designed for those expecting to enter college next fall, as practically every college in the state has college algebra on the list of subjects the students are required to take. It has been noted that students entering college generally have a hard time with college algebra and this course is offered in the hope of overcoming the difficulties.

In the SA grade a course entitled "Preparing for Citizenship," will be taught in connection with the history class. In both the SA and SB grades "The Principles of Cooking" will be taught along with the regular domestic science course.

The Senior class this year will probably be smaller than in the past two or three years and from present indications, according to Superintendent Scholl, the class will number not to exceed twenty-four members.

All the schools of the city today began the second semester of the school year. Examinations were held last week and pupils received their report cards last Friday afternoon.

Pastors of St. Paul's M. E. and
First Baptist Churches Discussing Proposed Election.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC ARRAIGNED

The Rev. A. D. Batchelor Says it
Has Little Respect For Law
Although it is Curbed.

The ministers of two churches, the Rev. S. G. Huntington of the First Baptist church, and Rev. A. D. Batchelor, of St. Paul's M. E. church, discussed the temperance question in their pulpits last evening, anticipating the probable calling of an local option election here in view of the fact that petitions for signatures to call an election are being circulated. Excerpts from these two sermons as well as from that given by Dr. D. Ira Lambert of the First Presbyterian church follows:

St. Paul's M. E.

Last night at the St. Paul's Methodist church the Rev. A. D. Batchelor preached a sermon on the local temperance issue. He took the position that any town was better without saloons. He did not mince words when he said that the saloon was a disturber of the public peace, a source of corruption and an inveterate breaker of the law. The text was, Esther 1:8. "And the drinking was according to law."

He said: "This is a reference to a feast given by Ahasuerus. The drinking was curbed by law to prevent Bacchanalian excess. The statement betrays the characteristic element of intoxicants. It is of such a character that it must be restrained by law. Now the manufacture and the sale of intoxicants have become a business. But it is a traffic that is circumscribed by more laws than all other business together. The reason is because it is inherently evil and must be curbed. The best way to curb it is to prohibit it. Some say prohibition is a failure. The fact is, regulation is a ghastly failure. Is anyone prepared to say that the drinking is according to the law where saloons are licensed? There is more lawlessness with saloons than without them. Indianapolis has many licensed saloons. Is the drinking there according to the law? We have the statement of the daily press for it that the saloons there do not observe the law. In each issue of the capital city press instances of law violation are recounted. Regulation does not seem to succeed.

"Although the traffic is curbed and restrained by law it has little respect for the law. It has always considered itself an exception to the law. Thus it makes a constant problem for officials and for the courts. If its drinking was always according to law, sentiment against it could not be so strong. But it is inherently evil. It is conducted by men who are deficient in conscience. It is the prime cause of many other forms of lawlessness. It is always allied with the worst forms of evil which it encourages. An ex-saloon keeper told me the other day that it was the worst business in which anyone could engage. And yet, he was in favor of the return of the saloons.

"Others are in favor of the return of the saloons. Some of these are putting their names on a petition for an election in the hope that the city will vote 'wet.' Why do they favor the licensed saloon? First, they tell us that more liquor is drunk without the saloons. Is it so? If this is true why do the liquor men favor the return of the saloons? This statement comes from the

ation is Not Given Bill.

(By United Press.)
Washington, Jan. 25.—Sen. Root this afternoon assailed the majority members for attempting, he said, to prevent proper consideration of the ship purchase bill now before the senate. "It does not seem to me," he said, "that this bill which will put the government into the foreign shipping business is receiving the kind of consideration a measure of its kind merits. It not only proposes that this government expend a large sum at a time when an extra tax has been imposed to make up our revenue deficit but embarks the United States on a new governmental policy."

JUMPS TRACK AND DELAYS TRAFFIC

L. E. & W. Engine Righted Sunday
Morning Just as Wrecking
Crew Whistled For Rushville.

BROKEN RAIL RESPONSIBLE

While running fast Saturday night to reach Rushville in time to keep within the scope of the sixteen-hour law, the engine of the L. E. & W. mixed train, which runs between here and Newcastle, jumped the track at the Fifth street crossing at a point near where the L. E. & W. and Big Four tracks join and delayed traffic on the Big Four until Sunday morning about 7 o'clock. Three freight trains on the Big Four were held up here until the engine was pulled back on the track.

Just as soon as the accident happened, a wrecking crew was ordered here from Muncie. When the wreck train was whistling for Rushville, a Big Four freight engine pulled the L. E. & W. engine up on the track after the night had been spent attempting to get the engine on the rails. A broken rail is held responsible for the mishap.

Rather than have the trip of the wreck train here seem like a waste of energy, the crew was set to work cleaning off the L. E. & W. crossings here in the city.

CRIMINAL CASES ARE CARRIED OVER

Charges Against Several Men Will
Not be Heard Until Next Term
of Court.

IT BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

Judge Sparks continued several criminal cases this afternoon until the next term of court because there was not sufficient time to hear the cases this term of court. Among the cases carried over where those against Thomas Keating, Greely Perkins, John Toolen and Hubert Mosier, charged with using dynamite to kill fish, and the case against John Morford, charged with shooting with intent to kill. The affidavits against the four men for dynamiting were filed last May by deputy game wardens.

Judge Sparks and Prosecutor Stevens at first decided to try the cases Thursday and Friday of this week, but because of the shortness of time in which to prepare the cases it was thought best to carry them over until the next term of court, which begins Monday.

SEE GERMANY'S LOSS GREATER

English Today Believe Enemy Suffered More From North Sea
Battle Than Was Indicated.

DAMAGED CRUISER REPORTED

Admiralty Gives Out No Details on
Supplementary Engagement
Which Believed Disastrous.

(By United Press.)
London, Jan. 25.—Germany's naval forces have been struck the most crushing blow of the war. Reports that a four-funnelled German cruiser badly damaged was sighted off the Holland coast early today reached here. It is the growing conviction here that German's losses in yesterday's North Sea Battle were greater than indicated.

Dutch reports said a crippled cruiser apparently of the type of the Stralsburg was limping at half sea toward the mouth of the Ems river. The admiralty had no details of this supplementary engagement but expressed belief that German casualties would be increased in later reports.

The war office says the German armored cruiser Bluecher was sunk and two of the enemy's battle cruisers were badly crippled when the German cruiser squadron attempted Sunday to repeat the recently made on the Hartlepool, Scarborough and other British coast towns. The British ships were injured only a few over a hundred of the Bluecher's crew of 885 were saved. In what is termed a supplementary engagement, the light cruisers and destroyers accompanying the bigger vessels fought, but reports of the damage and emboldened damage have not been given out by the admiralty.

The British were superior in ships engaged, weight of armament and speed, and the flight of the German ships into the mine and submarine infested field possibly saved them from further losses.

The Bluecher was a cruiser of 15,550 tons displacement, and although commissioned in 1908, was completely re-rigged last year. It was not classed as a battle cruiser, but was in the next class to those formidable fighters. With it were the Derflinger, Germany's latest battle cruiser, which had just left the builders' hands, and the battle cruisers Seydlitz and Moltke, the latter a sister ship of the Goeben, formerly of the German, but recently reported damaged by the Russians in the Black Sea.

Weather Man Says Another Rapid

Descent of Mercury May be Expected Some Time Tonight.

SOME MORE SNOW IS ADDED

Not content with having the mercury set new records for rapid descent, the weather man is still talking cold weather. Difficult as it may seem to believe, he says it will be colder tonight. Well, the predicting Saturday night was for colder weather and there is none today who will say it was not colder. The thermometers hereabout almost hit the bottom of the tube, Sunday morning, many of them registering as low as ten degrees below zero.

The mercury this morning was close to zero, but on the top side, and today it was considerably warmer, but hardly "hot" enough to have a visible effect on the heavy snow that carpeted the earth today. Snow of last week was augmented somewhat last night. Snow began falling, driven to earth fiercely by a strong gale from the northeast, about nine o'clock Sunday evening and it is estimated that three or four inches of snow was added to the already heavy fall.

Germans Assert English Fleet Did Not Escape From North Sea Battle, Without Loss.

THEIR FLEET OUTNUMBERED

Today's Statement Admits Sinking of Bluecher But Declared Others Returned Unharm.

(By United Press.)
Berlin, Jan. 25.—By Wireless to London, Destruction of a British battle cruiser in a great naval engagement in the North Sea Sunday morning was claimed in the official statement of the war office today.

The German war office admitted the loss of the Bluecher but declared other German cruisers engaged returned to the German naval base without material damage. The British, the statement declared, "discontinued the battle west-north-west of Helgoland and returned to their naval base."

"According to present reports," said the official statement, "the British lost one battle cruiser. We had the Bluecher sunk but other German ships returned to the harbor."

Four battle cruisers, accompanied by four small cruisers and two flotilla cruisers, were engaged. The German statement asserted. Steaming into the North Sea they encountered a British fleet of from four to five battle cruisers, some smaller cruisers and twenty-six flotilla cruisers.

PETIT AND GRAND JURIES ARE DRAWN

Preparations Are Being Made For February Term of Circuit Court Which Opens Next Monday.

ONE SUIT DISMISSED TODAY

There was very little of importance going on in the circuit court today, one suit being dismissed. The suit was the account of William J. Henley and John L. Baker, doing a law business under the firm name and style of Henley and Baker, against Owen L. Carr, in which $1,750 was demanded. The case was dismissed by the plaintiff at his costs and leave was granted to withdraw the papers.

Both the petit and grand juries for the February term of court, which opens next Monday, were drawn this morning. There has been no time set for either of the juries to report. The petit jury is as follows: Joseph J. Amos, Rushville township; C. H. Rogers, Washington; W. M. Bosley, Anderson; Benjamin F. Turner, Jackson; J. Frank Wilson, Noble; John N. Mull, Walker; E. O. George, Richland; William S. Newhouse, Jackson; Clarence Daubenspeck, Union; Thomas Francis, Anderson; A. J. Perkins, Noble, and John U. Blackledge, Rushville.

The members of the grand jury are as follows: U. S. Moffett, Rushville; Isaac N. Dearing, Orange; John Ricketts, Noble; Clifford Brown, Rushville; Charles M. Phillips, Posey; R. B. Cook, Jr., Union.

Amusements

The Princess offers a two reel feature "The Man of Iron" for the first picture tonight. Alice Hollister and Harry Millards are featured. It is a great human interest story and the man of iron makes a convict of his only son, drives his daughter from home and almost kills his wife. The other is a drama entitled "Sisters." Margaret Gibson and Myrtle Gonzales are featured. Tomorrow night Richard Travers and Gerda Holmes will be shown in "The Means and the Ends." Friday night the three reel feature "The Painted World" will be shown.

The Gem offers as an extra attraction Ogden and Benson, late of the Orpheum vaudeville circuit in comedy singing and piano playing tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The singers come to this theatre highly recommended and the act is said to be high class. A complete change of program is offered each night. The first picture of tonight's program is a two reel Victor drama entitled "The Girl of the People." Mary Fuller and Charles Ogle are featured and it is said to tell an interesting story full of action. The other is a comedy "The Fatal Marriage." Billie Ritchie and Gertrude Selby are featured in this one. Tomorrow night the next installment of the Universal feature "The Master Key" will be shown.

The Mystic will show a two reel Vitagraph comedy "Too Much Burglar" for the first picture tonight. Maurice Costello is featured and it is said to be one of the most laughable farces ever produced. The picture is full of funny complications. The other picture is the eleventh of the Octavius series entitled "The Adventure of the Lost Wife." Barry O'More is featured as usual in the role of the detective. Tomorrow night the two reel picture "Ernest Maltravers" will be shown. Thursday night the feature in four parts "Tess of the Storm Country," featuring Mary Pickford will be shown.

MAY ASK FOR LAW LIKE ILLINOIS

Becomes Known Today Indiana Suffragists Will Likely Seek Legislation at This Session.

NOT DEFINITELY DECIDED

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 25.—Indiana woman suffragists are considering a campaign at the present session of the legislature for a law similar to the Illinois law which would give them the right to vote for all statutory officers, including the president of the United States. This became known today.

"My investigation shows that there is no doubt that the Indiana constitution makes limited woman's suffrage possible," said Mrs. S. C. Stinson of Terre Haute, chairman of the legislative program committee of the Woman's Legislative Council. "Personally I am in favor of the introduction of such a bill at this session. The council has not yet decided whether to back such a measure but is considering the question."

The law would give women the right to vote in all city and school elections, for presidential electors and several state officers, it is said.

Society News

The next regular K of P. dance will be a masked dance and will be held Thursday night of this week. Russell Smith's orchestra of Indianapolis has been engaged for this occasion and with all of the musicians singing, this promises to be the most enjoyable dance of the season. Quite an interest has been taken in selecting costumes and some out of the ordinary are expected at this dance.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Frazee entertained at home today the Rev. Z. T. Sweeney of New York, who is holding a series of meetings at the Main Street Christian church this week; the Rev. Mr. Oldham, pastor of the Milroy Christian church, and his wife, and the Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Yocum of this city.

The aid society of the Main Street Christian church will meet Tuesday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock in the church parlors.

The Elite club was entertained this afternoon by Mrs. Claude Cambern, at her home in North Main street.

On arriving in America she is placed in a sweatshop. Six years later she flees from the insulting manager, is adopted by gypsies, flees from them in turn, believing she has killed a man, and learns to dance. She marries the famous artist who paints her picture. It is a powerful story, with pleasing scenes, and holds interest to the end.

The Daily Republican

The "Old Reliable" Republican Newspaper of Rush County.

Published Daily except Sunday by THE REPUBLICAN COMPANY.

RUSHVILLE, INDIANA.

Retraction is Made.

The Republican state headquarters has sent out the following statement concerning retraction made by the Rushville Jacksonian:

This is the story of how one of the over zealous organs of Indiana Democracy had to "back up" in double quick time; how it had to retract a libelous statement regarding Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican state organization.

On January 9, the Rushville Jacksonian, Democratic, made the following statement in an editorial:

"Nothing has been said about Republican State Chairman Hays who seems to be usually active around the state house since the legislature convened."

In view of the fact that Chairman Hays had not, at the time that article was written, been in Indianapolis since Dec. 26, almost two weeks before the legislature opened, L. W. Henley, secretary of the Republican state committee, when a copy of this paper reached Republican state headquarters, went to Rushville and made a demand for a retraction of this libelous statement with the result that the following appeared in the editorial columns of this Democratic mouthpiece on Jan. 19.

"It is our desire to correct a mistake published in these columns the ninth of this month when it was stated in part that Will H. Hays had taken active charge of the minority policies in the state legislature by attending party caucuses and writing letters to members, although holding no office. Through the news columns it was stated later that such was not the case but feeling that an injustice was done to the chairman of the Republican party it is our desire to correct any erroneous impression that may have gone out to the effect that Mr. Hays was lobbying. As was stated a few days ago it has been learned that he has not been in Indianapolis since Dec. 26 and hence only right that such a accusation be corrected which we gladly do."

A farmer in this community once had a horse he wanted to sell. It was a valuable horse and should have brought a good price. For months he tried to sell the animal, but could not find a buyer at his figure. He finally sold it for about $25 less than its value, rather than carry it through the winter.

Now it happened that just across the line in another county there was another farmer who was looking for such a horse, but was unable to find it. Then he inserted a little ad in the home paper, which brought him a number of offers, one of which he reluctantly accepted.

The first farmer did not take the home paper, and of course did not see the little ad of the man who wanted a horse, and who would have purchased his animal at a good price.

By not taking the paper he saved the subscription price of $3 and likewise lost $24 by not seeing the other fellow's ad.

Such occurrences are happening every day right here in this community, in which people actually lose good money because they do not take their home paper, and hence do not know of many of the opportunities that are placed before them.

The man who takes the paper and reads it carefully each day not only knows what is going on, but he is in fact money ahead at the end of the year by knowing what, when and where to buy.

brewers and the distillers. It does not square with the statements which are published in liquor organs, and which they send out to solicitors of the trade. The most prominent men in a local option fight are brewery agents. Why so active if the brewery is selling more liquor in a dry town? It is another liquor lie which fools a great many good people. An investigation of liquor shipments into dry territory shows that nothing like the amount is shipped in as when the territory is wet.

"Some liquor will always be sold in 'dry' territory so long as the laws are made to protect, perpetuate and favor the liquor interests. Yet with such laws as we have, the condition without the saloons is better than with them. The open saloon is a menace to the public peace. It is the instigator of brawls which often result in murder. It makes a condition which is a nuisance to the public. A highly respectable woman told me the other day that she would hate to see the saloons voted in, for no woman could pass along the streets without hearing profanity, and seeing other things which would shock her self-respect. Bums and old soaks hang about a saloon like flies around a molasses barrel, and disturb the public peace with their indecency.

"If the saloons are voted in will they see that the drinking is according to the law? Can the men who engage in this business be trusted to keep the law? They have loud things to say about blind tigers when a town is 'dry.' But who makes possible the blind tigers, if not the breweries and the distillers? Do not they ship in their liquor in barrels and boxes falsely labeled? What is this but lawlessness which is aimed at breaking down temperance sentiment. Can a traffic which does this be trusted to keep the law when it is licensed?

"Much is said about the drinking of young men when a town is dry. Will there be no liquor sold to minors if the saloons come back? Will a trade which is lawless in other ways, see that with regard to minors the drinking will be according to law? A licensed saloon encourages young men to drink. It wants their change. Besides, the success of its business rests upon making young men steady drinkers. Men of the trade are not particular about them being under age.

"Will the return of the saloons rid us of 'blind tigers'? They will only give us several more. For every saloon is a blind tiger. No saloon sells according to the law. In one local option fight in this state the saloon advocates promised that they would rid the city of blind tigers if successful in the election. They bought the election and got their licenses on the ground of 'good moral character,' but they never did away with any 'blind tigers.' They couldn't, because they were violating the law as much as the 'blind tigers.'

"Officials are severely criticised for not enforcing the law against the 'blind tigers.' If officials are sufficiently in sympathy with the trade as not to enforce the law here, how can they be expected to enforce it against the licensed saloon? Where then will be the gain if the saloons come back? If there were any assurance that the law would be rigidly enforced against the saloon there would be some reason in the argument. The enforcement of law against the saloon by a lax administration would be more feeble, for the licensed traffic would have a more powerful secret 'influence.'

"The trade is not conducted according to the law, because it seeks to bribe and brow-beat the officials. In one city in which I lived two saloon keepers brutally assaulted a faithful officer, and nothing was ever done to them. In another city the mayor ran on a food citizenship ticket, was elected, and later sold out the peace of the city to the lawless liquor element, and for what 'consideration,' no one knew.

"One more count against the traffic is that it always seeks to buy the election. There is no evidence more convincing of the unrighteousness of the trade than this. They are afraid to trust it to the votes of good citizens. They mean to make the town 'wet' whether or not the citizenship invites it by their votes. In such case it is thrust upon the people like some unjust system of taxation is imposed upon a province by a tyrant. Plenty of money is in the hands of 'wet' workers on election day. Is it their savings which they are spending? Not at all. It is the money furnished by the wealthy brewers, who are insisting on selling their 'wares' in your town whether you want them or not. They are unwilling and too lawless to abide by your votes. They will bribe and buy their way through that they may corrupt your city, making drunkards out of your sons, adulteresses out of your daughters, and increase the debts of your merchants. He who signs a petition for such an election and votes for the return of the saloon is abetting a vicious element in its work of lawlessness, whether he means to do so or not."

First Baptist

At the evening service at the First Baptist church the Rev. S. G. Huntington, following the move of the other ministers of the city, dealt at length on the coming option election taking for his text "A Wonderful and Horrible Thing is Committed in the Land," Jer. 5:30. He said in part as follows:

"While we hear it said on every hand that the reins of government have been held too slack the past months in Rushville, yet it is not true as liquor men say that Rushville is worse off without the saloons than with them. Of course, the 'wets' set up a howl of this kind for effect, but it is an old trick of theirs and only a few, mostly semi-dry, assert their conversion to it. Some people you know want an excuse to turn themselves loose and show their true self, and in this instance they find it in the thick stammering tongue of the 'boozers.' Its better 'wet' than 'dry.'

No honest man should be deceived by this stammering declaration from the canteenized throats of the whiskey element. Granting that the law has not been enforced as popular judgments think that should have been, yet with all Rushville is better off by far than when the saloons were here, and let the law be enforced as it should be without fear or favor and the effort for a clean city and better morals will be complete.

"But may I ask who it is that is clamoring for a 'wet' town? Surely not those who have the deepest interest in our city's highest good. Not those who would remove temptation from among our youth. Not those who would maintain a high standard of home life or the benefit of our citizenship in any way. No, it is none of these for the liquor traffic is the greatest enemy in the land to young manhood, the home and good morals.

"From personal observation it seems to me that those who want the saloon restored first of all are of course those who want to engage in the business, the 'fellows,' the would-be patrons, the cheap politicians, the fellow percher who has an old shack to rent and lastly the bleared-eyed chronic saloon loafer. But we dare not stop here, there are others. Those whose social relationship is such that they do not want to come out in the open. Follow the express wagons and you can locate some of the most dangerous foes of temperance within the boundaries of Rushville. I am told that there are those who have their 'Sunday beer parties' on Flatrock in the summer time, while others take long joy rides loaded down with bottled goods. Such are silently, but never-the-less decidedly supporting the liquor traffic.

"Yes, there is a big fight now on. I am glad our church is a unit on this question. As a religious body it is the only consistent position to hold. It did me a world of good the other evening to see every man in our Bible class of about forty members register themselves against the saloon and for a 'dry' town. Such action means victory. Now is the time for every 'dry' man to show his colors. Rushville must be kept 'dry.'

First Presbyterian.

The subject of the morning service at the First Presbyterian church was "This one Thing I Do," taken from Philippians 3:12 to 14 verse. In his message to his beloved church at Philippi which he calls "My Brethren, My Dearly Beloved and Longed For, my Joy and my Crown" the great apostle pleads mightily with them for ideals of perfection.

He himself does not profess to have attained thereto but he would stir them up to holy, ambitions by his own determined resolution—"I count not myself to have apprehended but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Sitting himself in this determined race he will first of all be very careful to put himself in the right attitude to all about him.

Turning himself to the past he casts a grateful look back across the experience of the years with its joys and sorrows, its persecutions and afflictions recalling that through it all God has brought him out "More than Conqueror." But he realizes that he cannot linger there so he turns to the realities of the present and faces the future with glad triumphant faith and stands ready for the race before him. His whole life is centered in this definite purpose with one supreme effort. He forgets all else beside, "This one Thing I Do" becomes the slogan of his life. There were many worthy things which he might have done but he was satisfied to do only the best things.

Life is so short to accomplish many things so the greatest success in life comes by specializing, by putting all our energy into one particular thing. Many a young man graduates from college with a smattering of mathematics and latin, and greek, and literature, and settles down to some position at $800 a year while Mr. Vanderbilt pays his chief cook $10,000 just because he knows all about that one thing. What is needed in this age above all else is specialists in Christianity. That was the burning passion of the great apostle—that he might be like Christ—that he might justly say "For me to Live is Christ"—That the whole world might be swept into the kingdom by that enthusiasm which is born of the Christ within.

This is the first element in this determined purpose of the man who might well be called the great Christian of all the ages. It is the great need in the church today. When the church shall be thoroughly in earnest, when it catches that vision of its crucified Lord which will send it forth to save a world which is actually dying without Christ then there will be no question about the world being swept into the kingdom.

When the greatest criminal of the last century was being led to the gallows for execution in London the chaplain walked by his side and offered to him the consolation of religion and the noted criminal turned fiercely upon him and said "Why man if I believed that I'd crawl across England on my hands and knees on broken glass to tell men about it." The second element in this determined effort of the great apostle was the appreciation of the high standing which Christ had set for him. "I press forward if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended."

What we need is God's standard not man's. A short time ago the world renown John R. Mott wrote: "When I made my first tour of the world's mission I came back with a great realization that what was needed was large numbers of young men and women to volunteer for the foreign field. After I came back from a second tour of the world's missions I felt that what was needed was great numbers of native workers who might be trained for service and sent out to win the heathen world but since I have come back from my third world tour, I have come to feel that neither of those things is the supreme need of this age but that what is most needed is a few persons whom God can holy use."

WOMAN'S EVIDENCE
UPHOLDS CLAIMS

Says: "I Wish All Nervous, Weak, Rundown Women Could Have Vinol, It Did So Much for Me."

Beallsville, Ohio.—"Vinol has done so much for me I wish all nervous, weak, run-down women could have it. I was so run-down, weak, and nervous I could not sleep nights. Everything I ate hurt me, and the medicine I had taken did me no good. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it. I had not taken it long, before I could eat anything I wanted without hurting me, and I could sleep all night. Now I am well and strong, and in better health than I have been for years. I never spent money for medicine that did me so much good as that I spent for Vinol."—Mrs. ANNA MILLASON, Beallsville, Ohio.

If the careworn, tired, overworked women, the pale, sickly children and feeble old folks around here would follow Mrs. Millason's example, they, too, would soon be able to say that Vinol, our famous cod liver and iron remedy, had built them up and made them strong. It is the combined action of the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron, that makes Vinol so successful in such cases.

FEW NEW FACES ON GIANT'S TEAM

McGraw Likely to Start Season
With Same Old Gang With Third Base Plugged by Lobert.

WILL TAKE FIFTY TO MARLIN

Has Eye on Cuban Southpaw and Believes Bill Ritter Will Land
Regular Berth.

BY HAD SHERIDAN.
(Written for United Press.)

New York, Jan. 25.—There will be few fresh faces in the chorus when Jawn McGraw rolls up the asbestos on his opening performance of the season at the Polo Grounds a few months hence. According to all the dope thus far gathered, the Giants will present about the same caste that was pushed out of the pennant chase by the Braves last season.

McGraw will lead a caravan of about 50 baseballers to Marlin, Tex. for spring training and there is the customary 1 out of 10 chance that he will pick a few winners from the green stuff. The general belief is, however, that excepting the locating of Hans Lobert at third, only one or two other changes will be made in the lineup.

The Giant pilot believes that shunting Lobert in a third plugs up one of the weakest spots in his machine, a weakness that he thinks put his team out of the world's championship series last fall. There is a possibility that Larry Doyle may be replaced by a youngster, unless he retrieves his batting eye and of course it will be McGraw's job to keep his eye working for real pitching timber.

With Al Denaree gone in the trade with the Phillies, and Rube Mar-quard making such noise about playing with the Brookfeds, McGraw will have but three regulars at Marlin—Mathewson, Tesreau and Fromme. Though Matty's late campaigning indicated a tendency toward slipping, he is being counted upon to go through the season with a creditable if not brilliant performance.

Bill Ritter is one of the youngsters McGraw believes may get a regular job and while he is wintering in Cuba he will look over Palmiero, the Cuban southpaw who is touted as certain, of a regular job on the Giant's hurling corps.

The Giants, by the way, may pick up some of the loose change lying around El Paso, Tex., and Juarez, Mex. on the day before the Willard Johnson fight. The Giants are scheduled to play an exhibition at Dallas on March 6, preceding the battle, but are giving serious consideration to a proposal for an exhibition game at El Paso, either with the Cleveland Naps, who will be at San Antonio, or with their own Yankigans.

EXECUTOR BRINGS SUIT

Austen Frazee Demands $200 Damages From C. C. C. & St. L.

Austen Frazee, as executor of the will of the late Stephen C. Blackledge, has filed suit against the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway demanding damages in the sum of $200. Mr. Frazee alleges in the complaint that the railway company was responsible for a fire in the thirty-acre field of clover, resulting in a loss of $200. He states that the fire occurred after he had taken charge of the property as executor of the estate.

The trial of the case of Edward A. Frazee of this city, against the National Land Company, has been set for March 15 in the Henry circuit court. It was sent to Newcas-

Letter Said to Have Been Found In Early Days of Christianity

The following clipping concerning a letter which is said to have been written by Christ and to which there is attached a superstition that any person who comes into possession of it and does not have it published will be visited by misfortune, has been handed to The Daily Republican with the request that it be printed:

The original letter, said to have been written by Christ, was found in the early days of Christianity by a child.

There is a promise that whoever may have a copy of this letter in their possession will prosper and be followed by good fortune, if they publish it, but if they do not heed the command, bad luck and misfortune will follow them until it is made public.

From the hands of the child who found it the letter is said to have passed into the possession of a convert to the Christian faith. For some reason this convert failed to have the letter published. He kept it, however, as a sacred memento of Christ and it passed on to his eldest son and on down through many generations, but never was published.

The tradition being that when it finally was given publicly, it had been in this one family for more than a thousand years.

During all this period of time, the story goes, the family suffered repeated and continuous misfortune.

Discouraged members of the family migrated to countries other than where the letter was found, which was evidently Palestine, and finally one of them came to America, bringing the fateful letter with him.

The family having possession of it settled in Virginia, still keeping the fact of the letter a secret.

Descendants of the family moved farther south, still followed by misfortune.

Finally, as the last member of the family lay on her death bed she called a neighbor woman named Thompson and gave the letter to her, relating its history.

The Thompson woman's attempts to have it published were rewarded when it appeared in the Rome (Ga.) Tribune, Oct. 31, 1891. From there it was reprinted in the Dalton, (Ga.) Citizen and Mrs. Fannie Wortman of Marion, Ind., clipped it from the paper, keeping it in her possession for many years. Recently Mrs. Wortman had it republished in a Marion paper, stating that during the time she had retained the letter in her possession without having it published, or attempting to, she had had a species of bad luck which she attributes to her failure to secure publicity for the letter.

It is my prayer that this be published.

Here is the letter:

"Whoever work on the Sabbath day shall be cursed. I command you to go to church and keep holy the Lord's day without any manner of work. You shall not idle or mispend your time in bedecking yourselves in superfluities of costly apparel and vain dressing, for I have ordered it a day of rest. I will have that day kept holy that your sins may be forgiven you.

"You will not break my commandments, but observe and keep them, they being written by my hand and spoken from my mouth.

"You will not only go to church yourself, but also your man servant and maid servant. Observe my words and learn my commandments. You shall finish your work every Saturday at 6 o'clock in the afternoon at which hour the preparation for the Sabbath begins. I advise you to fast five Fridays in the year, beginning on Good Friday and continuing the Fridays following, in remembrance of the five blood wounds I received for you and mankind.

"You shall love one another, and cause them that are not baptized to come to church and receive the holy sacrament—that is to say, baptism, and then the supper of the Lord, and be made a member thereof, and in so doing I will give you a long life and many blessings. Your land shall be replenished and bring forth abundance and I will comfort you in the greatest temptation, and surely he that doeth to the contrary shall be cursed.

"I will also send hardness of heart on them, and especially on hardened and impenitent unbelievers. He that hath given to the poor shall find it profitable.

Sabbath day injunction:
"Remember to keep holy the Sabbath day. For the seventh day I have taken as a resting day to myself.

"And he that hath a copy of this letter from my own mouth, and keepeth it, without publishing it to others, shall not prosper, but he that publisheth it to others shall be blessed by me, and if their sins be as many as the stars at night, and if they truly believe they shall be pardoned, and they that believe not this writing and my commandments will have my plague upon you, and you will be consumed with your children, goods, cattle, and all other worldly enjoyments that I have given you. Do but once think of what I have suffered for you; if you do, it will be well for you in this world and in the world which is to come.

"Whoever shall have a copy of this letter and keep it in their house, nothing shall hurt them, neither pestilence, lightning, nor thunder; and if any woman be in birth and put her trust in me she shall be delivered of her child. You shall have no more news of me except through the Holy Scripture, until the day of judgment. All goodness and prosperity shall be in the house where a copy of this letter shall be found.

Finished."

DOPE AGAINST JESS WILLARD

He May Grab Championship Crown From Jack Johnson But There Are Doubters Galore.

ACCUSED OF LACKING NERVE

Not Considered An Aggressive Campaigner and This May Be Against Him in Big Fight

BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for United Press.)
New York, Jan. 25.—Jess Willard may grab the championship crown from Jack Johnson late of Chicago and still later Parisian brawler, at their little meeting in Juarez, Mex in March but there are doubters galore.

The Kansas cowboy, the expert are now busy pointing out, has the heft, the ability to take punishment and a medium-sized punch. The chief objection seems to be that he lacks ring experience and that his attitude in the squared circle is entirely too mild.

Willard is now accused of lacking nerve, but many critics complain that he is not an aggressive campaigner. And they figure that the man who takes the title from "Ly Arthurs" must go after the dusk, one from the start to and give him a whole of a beating.

Those fight birds who look to Willard to win believe Johnson has gone back at a tremendous pace. All there are some cautious suggestion from certain quarters that while the title is getting worthless to Johnson because he is barred from the United States, it would prove of immense money-getting value to the Kansan. The boys who wager money on the scrap are not losing sight of this fact either.

Reports from Juarez say that the Mexican gambling house proprietor, shop dealers and gents whose bars have never been known to close are washing their pink and blue store fronts and preparing for a big business. Incidentally, General Villa's brother, part owner of the biggest gambling dive in the border town, counts on grubbing out of the throng of fight bugs about as much coin as Johnson or Willard.

If Johnson emerges from the Juarez bout safely, he will be confronted by the two "Sams" McVey and Langford, who are waiting for a crack at their colored brother. Johnson is now thirty-seven years old and it looks like a sure bet that the crown will drop from his peak if not in one of these prospective battles, at least within a short time.

OHIO WOMAN'S DROPSY CURED!

Tells Everybody How This Happy Result was Produced.

Dear Editor:—For a long time I had been suffering from dropsy. I had puffy pouches under my eyes. My feet, ankles and abdomen were swollen to twice their natural size and a finger pressure on the swelling left a white dent which remained for some time. This water often pressed against my heart and caused a smothering sensation. I had severe headaches, continuous backache, dizzy sensations and rheumatic pains throughout my entire body. The kidneys were off in their action and this poison backed up in my system. In spite of my doctoring and the taking of many remedies I obtained no relief.

Finally I was given a few Lloyd's Kidney and rheumatism tablets, the new scientific prescription. These did me such good that I at once got a larger dose and in a week's time all the swelling, backache, and other symptoms left me like magic. I now feel like a new woman. Lloyd's Tablets deserve all the credit for curing me of the trouble and ridding me of the terrible agony. I advise all to be sure and get from their druggists today, Lloyd's, the kind that cured me and cleanse their kidneys before too late.

DEMOCRATS PICK UP "HOT POTATO"

Most of Them in Legislature Would Have Preferred to Leave Primary Legislation Alone.

BUT BILL IS BEFORE THEM

Majority Will Have to Wrestle With Problem as Best it Can, McKinley's Birthday.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—The Democrats in the state legislature have picked up their "hot potato"—the state wide primary bill. They did not want to do this—in fact most of them would have much preferred not to even look at it—and they would not if there had not been a few perverse "Indians" on the preservation who hold to the old fashioned notion that whenever a political party writes a pledge to do something in its platform on which it asks for popular support that that party's representatives in the legislature should do everything in their power to fulfill that solemn party promise.

Now there are Democrats in the Indiana legislature who are determined that the promise of a state wide primary law, written into the last Democratic state platform should be redeemed and strange to say there are more of the Democratic representatives who are backing up the Democratic state machine workers in their determination that the present legislature shall not enact a primary law.

One thing is absolutely certain: in the language of the late John E. Lamb "the horses eyes are set." The Democratic leaders do not intend to pass a primary law. However, they recognize in this subject, a most embarrassing matter. What they would like to do would be to squelch the few Democratic representatives who are "hogs" on this subject—chloroform them, sandwich them, anything to keep them still—but they realize that there is about as much chance of accomplishing this much to be desired end as there is that Bryan will ever be elected President of the United States.

James of Plymouth is the most troublesome representative that the Democratic machine leaders have to deal with at this time. Jones has chucked his much heralded primary bill into the hopper and Jones will be able to muster sufficient backing to "raise Cain" to a limited extent. The storm that the Jones bill is bound to raise will be one of the most interesting of the present session, unless all signs fail.

McKinley's birthday—Jan. 29—will be more generally celebrated by the people of Indiana this year than ever before. Word is coming into Republican state headquarters that arrangements are being made all over the state for a fitting celebration of the anniversary of the birth of our last martyred president. Among Republicans it is especially fitting that this should be the case this year. Political and commercial conditions throughout the United States today are very similar to those obtaining twenty years ago when McKinley first began looming up as the Moses who was to lead the people of this country out of the despair and depression caused by the enactment of a Democratic tariff bill in 1893. Developments of the last two years have added materially to the potency of the name of (the) William McKinley and the memory of this patriot and his achievements promises to have a most powerful influence in shaping the conclusions of the Republican party in this nation when the crucial campaign of 1916 opens.

In a number of Indiana towns arrangements have already been made for neighborhood meetings on McKinley's birthday and in a number of cities plans have been made for celebrations on a more elaborate scale. In Indianapolis the day will be celebrated by an open meeting of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association at the Marion Club where United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, of Illinois will be the principal speaker.

The impression has gone forth that there are but 38 Republican members in the lower house of the Indiana General Assembly. All accounts to date have been a bit short—there are 39 Republicans in that body. The political complexion of the house of representatives is 60 Democrats, 39 Republicans and one Progressive. In the House of 1911 there were 40 Republicans, practically the same division as this year.

SALLIE ANN COOK EXPIRES

Pneumonia and Complications Fatal to Neff's Corner Woman

Miss Sallie Ann Cook, 82 years old, a well known and highly respected resident of Neff's Corner, died Saturday night at ten o'clock at her home there after a three weeks' illness from pneumonia and a complication of diseases. Miss Cook had lived there most of her life. She is survived by no near relatives and leaves two nephews, Abe Cook, of Indianapolis, and Fred Cook, of Tipton, and three cousins, Mrs. Clinton Cox and Joseph and John Barber, of this county. Short services were conducted at the residence this afternoon and the remains were taken to Dublin, Ind., where burial will take place tomorrow.

Obituary.

James Morris Lindale, second son of Wesley and Maria Lindale, was born in Noble township, Rush county, Jan. 30th, 1858. Died Jan. 22d, 1915, aged 56 years, 11 months and 22 days, having spent his entire life in Noble township, November 24th, 1881, he was united in marriage with Lydia Ann Mack of Fayette County, Ind., who survives him. To this union were born four children, Mrs. Myrtle Lewis of Robertson, Iowa, Clarence Lindale, of Lackawanna, N. Y., and Myra and James of the home.

He is also survived by his aged parents, one sister, Mrs. A. G. Putman of Indianapolis, and one brother, John Lindale of near Glenwood.

Mr. Lindale united with the Glenwood Methodist Episcopal church in the autumn of 1882 under the ministry of Rev. J. W. Dashiell. He has always been a faithful Christian contributing liberally of both his time and means to his Master's work. He served as Steward of the Glenwood church for years and was a Trustee at the time of his death.

He was a faithful student of his Bible and even in his delirium during his last illness he repeated whole chapters from the word of God. On the 17th of November last he was attacked by neuritis in his left arm, which culminated on the morning of Dec. 28th in a stroke of paralysis. From this he never fully rallied and at 2:30 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 22d he quietly sank into the sleep from which he has awakened in his Father's house.

"And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away." "A precious one from us is gone. A voice we loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home, which never can be filled. God in his wisdom has recalled, The boon His love had given, And though the body moulders here, The soul is safe in Heaven. 27211.

OPENS SERIES OF MEETINGS HERE

Dr. Z. T. Sweeney of New York Will Preach on Fundamentals of Christian Doctrine.

PREACHES TWICE SUNDAY

God Created Universe by Miracle, He Says, But Now Governs by Natural Law.

Large audiences greeting Dr. Z. T. Sweeney at his first appearance at the Main Street Christian church yesterday for his series of sermons on the fundamentals of Christian doctrine. Dr. Sweeney is an eloquent preacher of great power and the audiences of yesterday augur well for a very successful series of meetings.

The speaker took—for his morning subject the question, "Do We Need Miracles Today?" He showed that God always creates by miracle and propagates by natural law.

"God created the universe by miracle but now He governs and controls it by natural laws," he said. "Likewise He created the church by miracle and then governs and propagates it by the great laws of faith, hope and love. There were certain great wants in the beginning of Christianity that could only be met by the supernatural, but when once met miracles were no longer needed, and they were then suspended and all that is now needed is for God's children to be full of faith, hope, and love. These great principles are entirely sufficient for the evangelization of the world."

At night he discussed the Bible. He showed that God made man and also the book that is to redeem man from sin. If these do not fit each other it is God's mistake, he said.

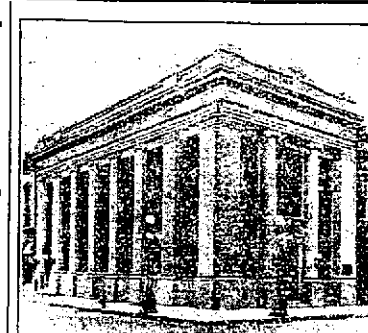

"The Bible as it is adapted to man as he is," he declared. "It is to be understood and interpreted by the same laws as any other book. Matthew, Mark, Luke and John tell us he acts about Christ. Acts of Apostles tells us how to come to Christ. The Epistles from Romans to Jude tell us how to live with Christ and revelation tells us of the fortunes of the Church and the destiny of the faithful."

Tonight he will speak on, "Is There a God and May We Know It?" He will examine the subject in the light of pure reason. He asks the audience to be the jury and he will present the testimony. His hearers can then return the verdict.

Carefully Treat Children's Colds

Neglect of children's colds often lays the foundation of serious lung trouble. On the other hand, it is harmful to continually dose delicate little stomachs with internal medicines or to keep the children always indoors. Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a good application of Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve over the throat and chest at the first sign of trouble, will keep the little chaps free from colds without injuring their digestions. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.

$3000.00 FIRE PREVENTED

The House the Red Jacket Saved

Read This Letter: "Several years ago I called on Lane & Evans to buy a pump and they almost forced me to buy one of your Fig. 28 Red Jacket Double-Acting Force Pumps and fifty feet of hose when I only intended to buy a cheap set length pump. Mr. Lane put up such strong argument on 'fire protection' that I followed his advice and bought the Fig. 28, little thinking that it would be of any service to me in that respect.

Shortly after the pump was installed, my barn caught fire and had it not been for this pump and hose and the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Barnett, my barn house and all buildings on the place would have been destroyed."
